

Credential Issuance - CDL Scenarios

Issuing a CDL typically takes at least two trips to MVD for a customer if everything goes as expected. Here's a summary of generally how the flow works.

Visit 1: Apply for CDL Permit and take Knowledge Tests

- Verify eligibility
- Submit Medical Exam Certificate (MEC) to Medical Review (Create Work Task)
- Pay fees for test(s)
- Take applicable knowledge test(s)
- Satisfy Requirements and Issue CDL Permit

Visit 2: Take CDL Skills/Road Test and Issue CDL and applicable endorsements

- Verify eligibility - Applicant must have held CDL permit for 14 days before they can be road tested and issued a CDL
- Ensure MEC reviewed and input by Medical Review (Requirement will be satisfied)
- Take applicable Skills/Road Test(s) and/or enter skills tests results in Requirements
- Pay fees for test(s) and application
- Issue CDL

If an appointment needs to be scheduled for a CDL skills test, view the Phone Service Process > Standard Work topic > Scheduling Appointments > Commercial Driver Licensing Appointments section for more information.

The following scenarios reflect detailed steps for those shown above:

- ▶ Issuing CDL Applicant a Commercial Permit (No Endorsements)
- ▶ Issuing CDL Applicant a Commercial Permit (With Endorsements)
- ▶ Issue Class A, B or C
- ▶ Issuing Out of State CDL Transfer (With Hazmat)

▶ Out of State CDL Transfer (without Hazmat)

When completing a Credential Issuance service, don't forget to print the Credential Application from MAX. See Printing the Credential Application for more information.
