Certified Ignition Interlock Overview

A Certified Ignition Interlock Device (CIID) is an in-car breath-analyzing device that is connected to the vehicle's ignition.

When an individual is required to have a CIID, they are subject to:

- Payment of all cost associated with installation and maintenance of the CIID
- Providing proof of installation (Ignition Interlock Proof of Installation, form #99-0203) of a functioning CIID in each motor vehicle operated by the individual
 - The installation form will list the CIID manufacturer who installed the device in the vehicle, installing location, and the name of technician who performed the install
- Providing proof of calibration of the CIID at least once every 90 days during the period the individual is ordered to use a CIID

Only Technical Support, Driver Improvement, and Ignition Interlock Units have the authority to place CIID requirements on a Customer Record. Any questions regarding CIID requirements should be directed to the Technical Support Unit at 602- 712-4900.

There are circumstances where a person may present proof of CIID installation even though the CIID requirement may not display on the Customer Record.

A judge may have ordered a CIID to be installed even though Arizona law doesn't mandate the CIID or the driving under the influence conviction has not been received from the court.
