Failure to Attend (FTA) Traffic Survival School (TSS)

A Traffic Survival School (TSS) offers training and education, to drivers who are required to attend TSS. The training and educational sessions are designed to improve the safety and habits of drivers.

An individual will receive a Corrective Action Notice, informing them that they must attend and complete TSS within 60 days or their driving privilege will be suspended.

Service of the Corrective Action Notice is considered complete upon the mailing of the notice. The Division is not required to prove actual receipt of the notice or actual knowledge of the suspension action.

The customer will be responsible for reinstatement fees, and any other applicable fees.

Depending on the action the individual may be required to complete a Mandatory Traffic Survival School Assignment or Discretionary Traffic Survival School Assignment.

For suspensions on or after August 9, 2017, a customer will no longer remain suspended until reinstatement fees are paid but will be required to pay the fees when renewing, obtaining a replacement or updating credential.

Multiple active TSS assignments, with the same TSS assignment ID, can attend once to satisfy all open TSS assignments. If a new assignment comes in, a new TSS assignment ID will be generated and the customer must attend again.
