Failure to Install a Certified Ignition Interlock Device

When a person who is required to install a Certified Ignition Interlock Device (CIID) fails to comply with the order, the Division shall suspend the person's driving privilege and prevent registration renewal of any vehicles owned by the person until proof of installation or compliance is submitted.

Only Technical Support, Driver Improvement, and Ignition Interlock Units have the authority to place CIID requirements on a Customer Record.

View the Certified Ignition Interlock Overview topic > Failure to Install CIID section for more information on failure to install CIIDs.
