Medical Reasons

The Division may suspend a person's driving privilege when the person fails to:

- Meet the Division's vision or medical standards
- Successfully complete a re-examination

The issuing of a DL is prohibited to any person who:

- Is required to take an examination, unless that person successfully passes the examination
- The Division has good cause to believe would be a threat to the public safety or welfare
- Has been adjudged to be incapacitated and who, at the time of application, has not obtained either a court order allowing the person to drive or a termination of incapacity

Medical Re-Exams

The Division may require a re-examination to determine the driver's ability to safely operate a motor vehicle. The Division may use information obtained from the Customer Record or other governmental agencies to determine cause. Refusal or neglect of the licensee to submit to the re-examination is grounds for suspension and revocation of their license.
