Mobile Home Brands

What is a Brand?

Brands are descriptive labels (applied by state motor vehicle agencies) regarding the status of a motor vehicle or mobile home, such as 'salvage', or 'restored salvage'.

The reason for branding a title helps identifies what has happened to the mobile home so the next purchaser is aware prior to buying the mobile home, as this may influence the value.

If a mobile home's title has been branded, it is an official designation made by the Division and should display on the mobile home's title.

Brands Added in Error

If a brand was added in error, a Level I Inspection is required, as a mobile home does not have a confidential VIN.

Crushed

Crushed mobile homes are not considered branded but a status of a vehicle and indicates the mobile home has been scrapped or destroyed.

There is no fee for this service.

The 'Crushed' status will not be applied when a valid lien displays.

For 'crushed' status, the inspection must include the vehicle was not crushed.

► Automotive Recyclers

Dismantle Brand

When an owner intends to dismantle (take apart) any section of the mobile home to use or sell as parts must first apply for a Dismantle branded title, this should be completed prior to taking parts from the mobile home.

If there are multiple sections of the mobile home, only the section that is being dismantled will receive a Dismantle branded title.

When the customer has already obtained a title with a Non-repairable brand, the owner is not required to obtain a Dismantle branded title.

An automotive recycler is not required to obtain a title with the dismantle brand prior to dismantling the vehicle when the recycler possesses a previously issued Dismantle, Salvage or Non-repairable branded title

Before Dismantled Brand is Added

When applying for a Dismantle brand title, the customer must submit:

- A Title of record
- A lien release, if applicable
- A Tax Clearance Receipt, if applicable

Flood Damage Brand

A flood or water damaged mobile home is identified by an out-of-state title that is branded to indicate the mobile home has sustained flood or water damage.

- This indication will be 'carried forward' to an Arizona title in the Previous Brands section, stating 'Flood Damaged'

A flood damaged mobile home is not considered to be a total loss.

If a mobile home that is titled in Arizona becomes flood or water damaged, the owner is not required to apply for a Flood Damaged branded title, but the mobile home may be branded as 'salvage', 'non-repairable', or 'dismantled'. However, the owner may request the Flood Damaged brand on their Arizona title.

Non-Repairable

A non-repairable mobile home is a vehicle that has little or no resale value except as a source for parts or scrap metal. Only the owner or insurer can designate the mobile home as non-repairable.

The Division will not issue a title to a vehicle when an out-of-state non-repairable branded title has been issued.

If an insurance company is filing for the branded title, view the Insurance Companies Applying for Salvage Title section for required documentation.

Before Non-Repairable Brand is Added

When applying for a non-repairable brand title:

- The title of record must be surrendered
- The non-repairable brand title may be reassigned no more than two times

Subsequent title transfers will not be processed and the purchaser will not be issued any type of title. The only actions permitted once a mobile home has been branded non-repairable are:

- Sale of component parts using a bill of sale

- Scrapping the mobile home
- Duplicate title by the registered owner

Restored Salvage Brand

A Restored Salvage branded mobile home title is when the mobile home has been repaired in order to be lived in again. Once a mobile home has been rebuilt or restored, the owner must obtain a Restored Salvage branded title before living in the mobile home.

Before Restored Salvage Brand is Added

When going from Salvage to Restored Salvage brand, the following documentation are required:

- Level I Inspection
- Salvage branded title of record must be surrendered, when:
 - The title has not been branded Salvage, the customer must first transfer ownership into their name with the Salvage branded title before a Restored Salvage branded title can be issued
- Salvage title of record does not need to be surrendered provided all other requirements are met, including a Level I Inspection, when:
 - The same owner is applying for a Restored Salvage title and the customer does not provide the current Salvage branded title of record
 - Verify ownership
 - Transferring an Arizona Salvage branded title into an Arizona Restored Salvage branded title with a new owner
 - The customer can transfer the title and change the brand at the same time
 - Transferring an out-of-state Salvage branded title to an Arizona Restored Salvage branded title, whether it is the same owner or new owner

Salvage Brand

Any mobile home that becomes a total loss due to an accident, un-recovered theft, or becomes non-repairable, will be referred to as a salvage mobile home. The owner of a mobile home that has been claimed as previously stated will apply for a Salvage or Non-repairable branded title.

Before Salvage Brand is Added

- The owner of record may retain possession of the salvaged mobile home
- Title of record must be submitted
- A lien release must be submitted, if applicable
- A Tax Clearance Receipt, if applicable
- If the mobile home has multiple sections and only one section of the mobile home is considered a total loss, use only that section's VIN to process a Salvage branded title
